Kailash Mansarovar Tour – 12 Days

Mount Kailash Tour is an ultimate spiritual journey for many sects of Hinduism, Buddhism, Jains, and Bon followers and has been an adventurous tour for enthusiastic travelers. Tibetan believes it is The Precious Jewel of Snow (Khang Rimpoche), and they regard Mount Kailash as the navel of the world. Mount Kailash's glaciated stream pours into the nearby lake, from where the river continues in four prime directions. This exotic tour in Tibet takes you to the mythical Mount Kailash (6,714 m) and Lake Mansarovar. For the religious pilgrim, a tour of Mt. Kailash and Lake Mansarovar is the ultimate achievement of their spiritual pursuit. And for adventure-lovers, visiting Mount Kailash presents extreme remoteness, solitude, pure beauty, and adventure of a lifetime.

Mount Kailash is widely famous in the Asian region that lies in the far west of Tibet. Hindus and Buddhists regard it as a sacred mountain, and the religions spread over India, Nepal, and Tibet. The beauty of the mountain is accompanied by the emerald-green serene Manasarovar Lake, which lies 30km away from Mt. Kailash. However, the mountain is the origin of Nepal's longest river, the Karnali, and other famous rivers of India like the Indus, the Sutlej, and the Brahmaputra.

Moreover, these rivers make their way through the great Tibetan Plateau. Mt. Kailash and the Manasarovar Lake are important pilgrimage sites for Tibetan and Indian pilgrims. For instance, the pilgrims attempt a 53km circular path around it, known as Kora, of Mt. Kailash. The altitude of the mountain is 6714 m with the snowcapped vertical landscape. Even the Manasarovar Lake having its circular distance of approximately 90km, is attempted by Indian and Tibetan pilgrims regarding it as formed in the mind of Brahma—the unified force field of energy—according to the Hindus and Buddhists' mythology.

This focused tour is specially meant for Hinduism followers or like-minded spiritual travelers with busy schedules. The tour begins from Kathmandu valley as you move towards Zhangmu. However, after the necessary border formalities, we continue driving towards Nyalam. Soon afterward, you will travel southwest across the vast Tibetan Plateau. You will spend lots of time on the bank of Lake Manasarovar for the parikrama and then embark on your spiritual circuit around Mt. Kailash. However, we wish you an unforgettable diving experience.
